CHAMPION PIRATES, FOUR-TIME WINNERS

National League Team Which Has Broken All Baseball Records—A Sketch of the Players.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] PITTSBURGH, October 2.—The pennant which has just been won by Pittsburgh is her fourth in baseball history. It has been six years since the last of three pennants, which were taken in a row by Pittsburgh, was won, and strange to say, the five players who had most to do with winning the National League pennant in 1901-2 and are still with the present team. Two of them, however, pitcher Philippi and Leever, have not had much to do with winning this pennant, while the other three, Clarke, Wagner and Leach, have as usual been the whole show. The world's championship, to be fought out with the Detroit, is now attracting much attention, and as Pittsburgh's fight will fall on the shoulders of not more than one dozen men, something about them may be of interest. The National League's claim to baseball supremacy of the country will be defended by the following players:

Fred C. Clarke, captain and manager of the Pittsburghers for the past ten years, when he and most of the Louisville team were merged with Pittsburgh. In that decade his team has never finished other than in the first division. He was discovered by Manager John McCloskey, of the Louisville, while scouting in the Southern League years ago and brought to Louisville as a sub. Two years later the sub was manager of the team, and his way has been upward since. He is considered one of the greatest of outfielders, as well as a good manager of men. In private life he is a Kansas ranch owner.

John P. Wagner ("Honus"), shortstop, is considered by many to be the greatest ballplayer in the game's history. There has not been discovered anything really in his weight, but which he cannot do better than most others, unless it be dirty ballplaying. All his career, Wagner has been too busy playing ball to injure any of his fellow-players. Without Wagner Pittsburgh would not have won any of her pennants. When the last man was out in the game which clinched this year's pennant for Pittsburgh it was found that Wagner had batted in 110 runs and scored 92 times himself. Wagner's first salary years ago, was $25 per month. He has been drawing at least $10,000 each year for some seasons now. Like Manager Clarke, this angelically-looking baseball thundebolt takes care of his money, and is one of the rich men of the game. Besides baseball, he has three weaknesses—automobiles, dogs and national bank stocks.

Thomas Leach ("Tommy the Wee"), middle fielder of the Champions, known as the "biggest little man" playing the game. Leach is so constructed that he looks much smaller than he really is, his weight being about 160 pounds. He can and does send the ball as the heavier Wagner, and as a runner he is easily the leader of the team. His short stature makes it hard for a pitcher to get the ball over his right, and when the pitcher does get it over the little fellow has been known to lose it. Leach was forced into the line of duty during the American League formation, when Jimmy Williams, Pittsburgh's third baseman, jumped to the American, leaving Leach to play this year unless given the outfield, claiming he got hurt too much as a third.

Owen Wilson, the third member of Pittsburgh's outfield, is considered the only rival to Birmingham of the American in throwing the ball into the infield. He has been compared favorably with Cobb, of Detroit, and while admittedly not in the same class as hitter with the Detroit man, he probably has held more men at third base in fast work than has Cobb. Wilson is a giant in size, and besides

CLEMSON LOSES TO VIRGINIA TECHS

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] BLACKSBURG, VA., October 2.—V. P. I. defeated Clemson College this afternoon 6 to 0 in the opening game of the season and the first to be played on the new athletic field. BOAT CLUB ELEVEN TO MEET SPIDERS

Former College Players Hope to Score Thursday Against Richmond College.

The Virginia Boat Club football team will play its second game on Thursday afternoon, when the oarsmen will line up against Richmond College. The boat club eleven does not expect, of course, to win the game, but it hopes to score against the fast collegians. The amateur players are handicapped by lack of proper opportunity to practice, all their work being done at night beneath an electric arc light. But most of the men are college graduates who have made their mark on the gridiron and who have not forgotten the fundamentals of the game.

KNIGHTS COMING FOR TOURNAMENT

Big Saturday Event at State Fair Will Attract Many Noted Riders.

Knights of the tourney will assemble in large numbers next Saturday at the State Fair Grounds to participate in one of the largest tournaments ever held in the Old Dominion. More than thirty knights from about as many sections of the State have already entered the lists, and many of these are noted for their skill in horsemanship and in tilting.

C. E. Sydnor, "the apple man," has interested himself in this feature of the fair and has worked faithfully toward its success. James Crook, a well-known rider, has assisted him in his endeavors in this direction.

Among the well-known knights who have entered is Mr. Kitchin, of Winchester, who declares that the man who defeats him will know that he is in the tilting.

After laboring under many difficulties, many prominent people in Richmond have been persuaded to take part in the tourney. This entertainment at the fair will be worth going many miles to see. The charge to the knights will take place at 2 o'clock, and the tilting will begin immediately thereafter.

The charge to the knights will be delivered by John Garland, Pollard. The judges will be Charles Antrim, E. B. Sydnor, J. C. Hagan, W. Gray Watson and Henry Parrish. Mr. Parrish is one of the best known tournament men in the State.

Colonel Barton H. Grundy will officiate as chief marshal, assisted by his regular staff.

TEAMS PLAYED TO EVEN BREAK

Though ending in a tie (5 to 5), the football contest between the Richmond Howitzers' team and that of Highland Park yesterday afternoon was most interesting. This was the first of the gridiron battles to be fought by the artillery team.

Both points were scored in the first half. Gregory crossed the victory line for the Highlanders and Sutz equalled the achievement for the Howitzers. The halves were twenty and fifteen minutes, respectively.

Next Saturday, the Howitzers will play the First Virginia Regiment at Byrd Park at 4 P. M.

Polo at Washington. WASHINGTON, October 2.—Warrenton defeated Fort Myer in an exciting game of polo here to-day. The score resulted: Warrenton, 4; Fort Myer, 3-1-2. Lieutenant Hammond, of the army team, was slightly injured during the game by falling from his horse.

RICHMOND COLLEGE WINS SLUGGISH GAME

Maryland Agricultural College Team Defeated in Opening Contest Here by Superior Brain Work Over Brawn, Score Being 12 to 0.

Virginia brawn was too much for much the same class of ball. They seemed to lack team play seriously, for with the weight of the men they have and their rangy backs they ought to have put up a much better game yesterday than they did.

Very little time was taken out and comparatively few penalties were suffered, most of those given being for failure to comply with the rules in regard to a forward pass. There was no slugging or unnecessary delay, and the whole game consumed but little over an hour.

The line-up was:

Richmond	Position	Maryland Agricultural College
Ransom	left end	Duckett
Hazlett	left tackle	Posey
Sadler	left guard	Stables (Molesworth)
Stringfellow	center	Ward Jones
Jones	right guard	Kochler (Decker)
Davis	right tackle	Kemp (Johnson)
Taylor	right end	Castro (McFarland)
Smith	quarter	Saunders (Williams)
Tyler	right half	Shipley
Mills	full back	Sylvester (Meredith)

Referee, Hagaman (Columbia); umpire, Simpson (University of North Carolina); head linesman, Hardy (Richmond); timekeepers, Hoen (Maryland), Long (Richmond). Time of halves, twenty minutes.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] WILLIAMSBURG, VA., October 2.—This afternoon William and Mary won its second game of the season from Norfolk Light Artillery Blues by a score of 3 to 0. The game was hotly contested throughout, and it looked as if it would be a 0 to 0 score until the middle of the second half, when Bamard, William and Mary's fast little quarter, kicked a field goal from the thirty-yard line.

The features of the game were long runs by Bamard, Driver and Barr. The line-up:

William and Mary	Position	Norfolk
Norfolk	right end	Brown
Williams	left end	Goodwin (Marshall)
Murphy	left tackle	Healy

Bain	right half	Driver

Yale in Satisfactory Shape. NEW HAVEN, CONN., October 2.—The Yale team developed unexpected strength in its game with Syracuse to-day and gave promise of a good season on the gridiron. The team also showed the results of Howard Jones's careful coaching, and blocked all of the play of Syracuse. The visitors had the ball scarcely at all, and the goal line of Yale was never in danger.
